

Program Manager update

Hello everyone,

We are in the middle of the year already - I can't believe time is flying so fast for 2018.

There has been a lot happening here in Tasmania since our last newsletter.

NDIS

The age roll-out in Tasmania now covers eligible people aged between 0 - 49 years old.

We are providing pre-planning information to the community much more regularly now. Why not take advantage of this service and book an appointment to come and see us to see how we can support you?

New Access Coordinator

We have a new Access Coordinator, Michelle Czyzowicz, working with us in our Hobart Office.

This means you now have more options available to you. You can choose either Jeanette, Michelle or myself to support you with your NDIS questions. We can also help prepare you or when you meet with NDIS staff.

Donations

Recently we received two unexpected and generous donations from the community from:

1. $1500 from Succulent Sensations (Hobart)
2. $500 from Mr Dark (Western Australia)

We are grateful for these donations and this money will go towards Tasdeaf's services for you.

A big thank you from us all.

Re-branding

In regard to our re-branding, our head office recently announced that we will have new name - Expression Australia.

This means that Tasdeaf and Vicdeaf will be called Expression Australia from Monday 13th August 2018 onwards. Please see the attached flyer that explains more about our new name and how we chose it.

Our services will continue as usual with no reductions to current services at all. We will retain our legal entity names Victorian Deaf Society and Tasmanian Deaf Society.

Leave

I will be on annual leave by the time this newsletter is distributed. Jeanette Symonds will be managing my role during my leave. She will travel to the Hobart office each week to make sure things are running smooth.

If you need to see Jeanette, please contact her and make an appointment. Her email address is jeanettes@vicdeaf.com.au. I will be back at work at the end of August.

See you after my leave and make sure you keep warm this winter!

Vale Derrick Tabor

One of our local Deaf elders, Derrick Tabor, passed away recently.

A beautiful funeral service was held in North Hobart. Many members of the Deaf community attended along with Derrick's family.

Above: Derrick Tabor

We produced a video about Derrick that was presented by Stephen Hodgetts and Stephen Nicholson. This video can be seen at our Tasdeaf's Facebook page (<https://www.facebook.com/Tasdeaf>)

We want to acknowledge and thank the kind donation made to Tasdeaf at the family's request.

The Tabor family has, and still is, making a huge contribution to Tasdeaf over many generations.

Derrick will be sadly missed and our thoughts are with Beryl and the family.

Tasdeaf BBQ

We enjoyed great weather, great food and great company at the recent Tasdeaf BBQ! See more photos at: <http://tasdeaf.org.au/bbq>

Farewell to David

We recently said farewell to our Screening Audiometrist, David Closs who retired on Tuesday 26 June. To thank Dave for all his hard work, we had a farewell lunch.

Our CEO, Chris Mathieson, came to Hobart to mark the occasion as well as two Tasdeaf staff members who worked with David before the merge with Vicdeaf. David was thrilled with this farewell lunch.

David worked with us for more than 10 years, working firstly with the National Relay Service and then as a Screening Audiometrist.

We are currently reviewing our Hearing Link services in line with re-branding and funding. We will know more about this later in the year and will let you know when finalised. At the moment, we are resting this service.

Thank you David for all your brilliant work with industry hearing tests and making ear molds for our clients.

Enjoy your retirement and travel more!

Recently, extreme weather conditions affected southern Tasmania. The emergency services invited Tasdeaf to relay important information so the Deaf community could be informed.

All signs point to a win for insight

The inclusion and appreciation of people living with a disability is the centrepiece of a new school film that is hitting the national stage.

Two students from Montrose Bay High School are showcasing their filmmaking abilities in this year's Focus on Ability Short Film Festival.

The competition is designed to celebrate the abilities of people living with disabilities in order to shift the focus to what these individuals can achieve rather than their limitations.

Montrose Bay Year 7 video students Scarlett Neil and Hayley Rice have created a documentary titled This is Me.

The film depicts the day-to-day life of their friend, deaf student DJ Townsend, who teaches his fellow students how to use sign language.

Teacher Caitlin Love said the focus of the film was students sharing their insights on inclusivity of disabled students and what their unique skills were, such as sign language.

"We don't see a disabled student as someone with a disability, but someone with a unique ability," Ms Love said.

"It's about what he (DJ) brings to their friendship, not his disability... day to day".

Nominations for the film festival closed last month and voting for the entries will concluded at midnight tonight.

The winners will be revealed on September 7.

Inclusion message: Scarlett Neil made a documentary subject about fellow Montrose Bay High student DJ Townsend that has been entered in a competition.
